To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Farid Lavizadeh for employment. Farid, "Fred" began the Web Design class in fall of 2010. After completing the courses he was motivated to pursue Graphic Design. He has proven to be an excellent student and a wonderful asset to our class and school.

If attitude makes the difference between getting tasks done and making them fun, Fred is the epitome of great attitude. From the moment he enters the classroom at 8:00 am, everyone can expect a personalized 'good morning.' He inspires everyone around him with his dedication and caring.

It is this caring attitude which helps him be a leader in the class when students ask for help and advice on certain technical issues. Fred will always stop his current assignment to help others who may need further guidance. He can always be counted on for added student support.

Fred has been involved in redesigning and building the school website. His design was chosen from four entries and he has worked countless hours to diligently map out the existing website and give innovative functionality and character to the new website. His attention to small detail is remarkable. He strives to expand his field of knowledge in the area of web design and development. Fred is a lifelong learner.

It is for these reasons that I highly recommend Fred Lavizadeh for employment.

Sincerely,

Charles D. Garcia,
